DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.
2. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed. Note spelling error.
3. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

5. Claims 1-6 & 7-19 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, because the specification, while being enabling for carbon-sulfur covalent bonds, it does not reasonably provide enablement for all infrared absorption spectrum with a plurality of absorption peaks. The specification does not enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make the invention commensurate in scope with these claims. Undue experimentation on all known toner compositions would be required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshida et al in view of Inagaki et al. Applicants' claims are to a toner, an image forming method using the toner and an image forming apparatus using the toner. The toner has a chain transfer agent having a carbon-sulfur covalent bond, which has a specific infrared absorption note page 17 & 18 of applicants' disclosure. Yoshida et al teaches the chain transfer agent as being mercaptans note Col.3 line 15-16. Yoshida et al fails to teach the specific mercaptan chain transfer agents or the weight average molecular weight or the number average molecular weight. Inagaki et al Col. 6 line 35-45 teaches the chain transfer agent and line 65-68 the specific alkylmercaptans. Table 1 Col.17 & 18 teach the Mw/Mn within applicants range. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicants' invention with a reasonable expectation of success to use the specific known chain transfer agents to form the toner binder that has the physical properties useful in a toner used in an electrophotographic process. Applicants' can overcome the above rejections by including the content of claim 5 and 7 into the language of claim 1.
